

The Rutgers Center for European Studies

Dmitry Nechiporuk (Fulbright Fellow)

Russia between the EU and the US: Current Developments of Post-Soviet Society

Moscow 1990

Tuesday, January 29
Rutgers Academic Building,
West Wing, Room 6050
12:30 PM - 2:00 PM
Lunch will be served

Moscow/New York 1988

Dr. Dmitry Nechiporuk, Fulbright visiting scholar at Rutgers, is author of In the Name of Nihilism: The Society of American Friends of Russian Freedom and Russian Revolutionary Program, 1890-1930 (St. Petersburg 2018); and Bordering Lands, Common Waters: The History of Trans-border Cooperation between Russia, the Baltic States, and the European Union on the protection of the Baltic Sea Ecosystem (St. Petersburg 2014), as well as numerous articles on the history of Russian-American relationships and modern Russian environmental politics. In addition to his teaching and research, he also serves in the Municipal Assembly of Nevel, Russia.